RISK FACTORS

Risks Related to the Company's Business and Industry

Our business, results of operations, and financial condition may be impacted by the recent coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak.

With respect to the ongoing and evolving coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak, which was designated as a pandemic by the World Health Organization on March 11, 2020, the outbreak has caused substantial disruption in international and U.S. economies and markets. The outbreak has potential to have an adverse impact on our industry and, if repercussions of the outbreak are prolonged, could have a significant adverse impact on our business, which could be material. Our management cannot at this point estimate the impact of the outbreak on its business and no provision for this outbreak is reflected in the accompanying financial statements.

We have a limited operating history upon which you can evaluate our performance, and accordingly, our prospects must be considered in light of the risks that any new company encounters.

We were organized in 2016 and began developing our product in 2017. Accordingly, we have a limited history upon which an evaluation of our prospects and future performance can be made. Our proposed operations are subject to all business risks associated with new enterprises. The likelihood of our creation of a viable business must be considered in light of the problems, expenses, difficulties, complications, and delays frequently encountered in connection with the inception of a business, operation in a competitive industry, and the continued development of advertising, promotions, and a corresponding client base. In order to succeed, the Company will need to attract additional capital and additional personnel, and there can be no assurances that the Company will be able to attract the needed capital and personnel.

We have a history of losses. If we do not become profitable or maintain profitability in the future, we may not be able to continue to operate.

We have not been profitable in the past. We have not generated any significant revenues to date. Before we are able to generate any material level of revenues, we will incur significant additional losses. We expect to substantially increase our research and development and sales and marketing and general and administrative expenses. As a result, we will need to generate significant revenues to achieve and maintain profitability in the future. We cannot assure you that we will achieve profitable operations or maintain them if achieved. Failure to achieve or maintain profitability will materially and adversely affect our business.

There can be no assurance that the company will achieve profitability.

There can be no assurance that the Company will achieve profitability. The Company may depend upon funds raised from the sale of its stock and additional financings to finance its operations. The Company believes these amounts will be sufficient to finance its operations. However, no assurance can be given as to (i) the sufficiency of the funds raised from the Offering, (ii) the ability of the Company to raise or borrow additional funds, (iii) if the funds are available, that the terms will be acceptable by the Company, or (iv) the ability of the Company to attain its financial objectives.

If we cannot continue to develop, acquire, market and offer new products and services or enhancements to existing products and services that meet customer requirements, our operating results could suffer.

The process of developing and acquiring new technology products and services and enhancing existing offerings is complex, costly and uncertain. If we fail to anticipate customers' rapidly changing needs and expectations or adapt to emerging technological trends, our market share and results of operations could suffer. We must make long-term investments, develop, acquire or obtain appropriate intellectual property and commit significant resources before knowing whether our predictions will accurately reflect customer demand for our products and services. If we misjudge customer needs in the future, our new products and services may not succeed and our revenues and earnings may be harmed. Additionally, any delay in the development, acquisition, marketing or launch of a new offering or enhancement to an existing offering could result in customer attrition or impede our ability to attract new customers, causing a decline in our revenue, earnings or stock price and weakening our competitive position.

We offer our products on a variety of hardware platforms. Consumers continue to migrate from personal computers to tablet and mobile devices. If we cannot continue adapting our products to tablet and mobile devices, or if our competitors can adapt their products more quickly than us, our business could be harmed. Releases of new devices or operating systems may make it more difficult for our products to perform or may require significant costs in order for us to adapt our solutions to such devices or operating systems. These potential costs and delays could harm our business.

The Company's success depends on the experience and skill of the board of directors, its executive officers and key employees.

In particular, the Company is dependent on its CEO, Obi Onyejekwe, and Arama Brown, the Lead Software Engineer of the Company. The Company has or intends to enter into an employment agreement with Arama Brown although there can be no assurance that it will do so or that they will continue to be employed by the Company for a particular period of time. The loss of either Obi Onyejekwe or Arama Brown or any member of the board of directors or executive officer could harm the Company's business, financial condition, cash flow and results of operations.

The Company has indicated that it has engaged in certain transactions with related persons.

Please see the section of this Memorandum entitled "Transactions with Related Persons and Conflicts of Interest" for further details.

Introduction of new technology could harm our business and results of operations.

The expectations and needs of technology consumers are constantly evolving. Our future success depends on a variety of factors, including our continued ability to innovate, introduce new products and services efficiently, enhance and integrate our products and services in a timely and cost-effective manner, extend our core technology into new applications, and anticipate emerging standards, business models, software delivery methods and other technological developments. Integration of our products and services with one another and other companies' offerings creates an increasingly complex ecosystem that is partly reliant on third parties. If any disruptive technology, or competing products, services or operating systems that are not compatible with our solutions, achieve widespread acceptance, our operating results could suffer and our business could be harmed.

We rely on various intellectual property rights, including patents and trademarks in order to operate our business.

Such intellectual property rights, however, may not be sufficiently broad or otherwise may not provide us a significant competitive advantage. In addition, the steps that we have taken to maintain and protect our intellectual property may not prevent it from being challenged, invalidated, circumvented or designed-around, particularly in countries where intellectual property rights are not highly developed or protected. In some circumstances, enforcement may not be available to us because an infringer has a dominant intellectual property position or for other business reasons, or countries may require compulsory licensing of our intellectual property. Our failure to obtain or maintain intellectual property rights that convey competitive advantage, adequately protect our intellectual property or detect or prevent circumvention or unauthorized use of such property, could adversely impact our competitive position and results of operations. We also rely on nondisclosure and noncompetition agreements with employees, consultants and other parties to protect, in part, trade secrets and other proprietary rights. There can be no assurance that these agreements will adequately protect our trade secrets and other proprietary rights and will not be breached, that we will have adequate remedies for any breach, that others will not independently develop substantially equivalent proprietary information or that third parties will not otherwise gain access to our trade secrets or other proprietary rights.

As we expand our business, protecting our intellectual property will become increasingly important. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter our competitors from using our proprietary information. In order to protect or enforce our patent rights, we may be required to initiate litigation against third parties, such as infringement lawsuits. Also, these third parties may assert claims against us with or without provocation. These lawsuits could be expensive, take significant time and could divert management's attention from other business concerns. The law relating to the scope and validity of claims in the technology field in which we operate is still evolving and, consequently, intellectual property positions in our industry are generally uncertain. We cannot assure you that we will prevail in any of these potential suits or that the damages or other remedies awarded, if any, would be commercially valuable.

The amount of capital the Company is attempting to raise in this Offering is not enough to sustain the Company's current business plan.

In order to achieve the Company's near and long-term goals, the Company will need to procure funds in addition to the amount raised in the Offering. There is no guarantee the Company will be able to raise such funds on acceptable terms or at all. If we are not able to raise sufficient capital in the future, we will not be able to execute our business plan, our continued operations will be in jeopardy and we may be forced to cease operations and sell or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of our remaining assets, which could cause an Investor to lose all or a portion of his or her investment.

Although dependent on certain key personnel, the Company does not have any key man life insurance policies on any such people.

The Company is dependent on Obi Onyejekwe and Arama Brown in order to conduct its operations and execute its business plan; however, the Company has not purchased any insurance policies with respect to those individuals in the event of their death or disability. Therefore, if Obi Onyejekwe or Arama Brown dies or becomes disabled, the Company will not receive any compensation to assist with such person's absence. The loss of such person could negatively affect the Company and its operations.

The development and commercialization of our products is highly competitive.

We face competition with respect to any products that we may seek to develop or commercialize in the future. Our competitors include major companies worldwide. Many of our competitors have significantly greater financial, technical and human resources than we have and superior expertise in research and development and marketing approved products and thus may be better equipped than us to develop and commercialize products. These competitors also compete with us in recruiting and retaining qualified personnel and acquiring technologies. Smaller or early-stage companies may also prove to be significant competitors, particularly through collaborative arrangements with large and established companies. Accordingly, our competitors may commercialize products more rapidly or effectively than we are able to, which would adversely affect our competitive position, the likelihood that our products will achieve initial market acceptance and our ability to generate meaningful additional revenues from our products.

We have not prepared any audited financial statements.

Therefore, you have no audited financial information regarding the Company's capitalization or assets or liabilities on which to make your investment decision. If you feel the information provided is insufficient, you should not invest in the Company.

We are subject to income taxes as well as non-income based taxes, such as payroll, sales, use, value-added, net worth, property and goods and services taxes, in both the U.S. [and various foreign jurisdictions].

Significant judgment is required in determining our provision for income taxes and other tax liabilities. In the ordinary course of our business, there are many transactions and calculations where the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. Although we believe that our tax estimates are reasonable: (i) there is no assurance that the final determination of tax audits or tax disputes will not be different from what is reflected in our income tax provisions, expense amounts for non-income based taxes and accruals and (ii) any material differences could have an adverse effect on our financial position and results of operations in the period or periods for which determination is made.

We are not subject to Sarbanes-Oxley regulations and lack the financial controls and safeguards required of public companies.

We do not have the internal infrastructure necessary, and are not required, to complete an attestation about our financial controls that would be required under Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. There can be no assurance that there are no significant deficiencies or material weaknesses in the quality of our financial controls. We expect to incur additional expenses and diversion of management's time if and when it becomes necessary to perform the system and process evaluation, testing and remediation required in order to comply with the management certification and auditor attestation requirements.

We must comply with various laws and regulations.

We rely heavily on our technology and intellectual property, but we may be unable to adequately or cost-effectively protect or enforce our intellectual property rights, thereby weakening our competitive position and increasing operating costs.

To protect our rights in our services and technology, we rely on a combination of copyright and trademark laws, patents, trade secrets, confidentiality agreements with employees and third parties, and protective contractual provisions. We also rely on laws pertaining to trademarks and domain names to protect the value of our corporate brands and reputation. Despite our efforts to protect our proprietary rights, unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services or technology, obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary, or otherwise violate or infringe our intellectual property rights. In addition, it is possible that others could independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property. If we do not effectively protect our intellectual property, or if others independently develop substantially equivalent intellectual property, our competitive position could be weakened.

Effectively policing the unauthorized use of our services and technology is time-consuming and costly, and the steps taken by us may not prevent misappropriation of our technology or other proprietary assets. The efforts we have taken to protect our proprietary rights may not be sufficient or effective, and unauthorized parties may copy aspects of our services, use similar marks or domain names, or obtain and use information, marks, or technology that we regard as proprietary. We may have to litigate to enforce our intellectual property rights, to protect our trade secrets, or to determine the validity and scope of others' proprietary rights, which are sometimes not clear or may change. Litigation can be time consuming and expensive, and the outcome can be difficult to predict.

The Company could be negatively impacted if found to have infringed on intellectual property rights.

Technology companies, including many of the Company's competitors, frequently enter into litigation based on allegations of patent infringement or other violations of intellectual property rights. In addition, patent holding companies seek to monetize patents they have purchased or otherwise obtained. As the Company grows, the intellectual property rights claims against it will likely increase. The Company intends to vigorously defend infringement actions in court and before the U.S. International Trade Commission. The plaintiffs in these actions frequently seek injunctions and substantial damages. Regardless of the scope or validity of such patents or other intellectual property rights, or the merits of any claims by potential or actual litigants, the Company may have to engage in protracted litigation. If the Company is found to infringe one or more patents or other intellectual property rights, regardless of whether it can develop non-infringing technology, it may be required to pay substantial damages or royalties to a third-party, or it may be subject to a temporary or permanent injunction prohibiting the Company from marketing or selling certain products. In certain cases, the Company may consider the desirability of entering into licensing agreements, although no assurance can be given that such licenses can be obtained on acceptable terms or that litigation will not occur. These licenses may also significantly increase the Company's operating expenses.

Regardless of the merit of particular claims, litigation may be expensive, time-consuming, disruptive to the Company's operations and distracting to management. In recognition of these considerations, the Company may enter into arrangements to settle litigation. If one or more legal matters were resolved against the Company's consolidated financial statements for that reporting period could be materially adversely affected. Further, such an outcome could result in significant compensatory, punitive or trebled monetary damages, disgorgement of revenue or profits, remedial corporate measures or injunctive relief against the Company that could adversely affect its financial condition and results of operations.

We rely on agreements with third parties to provide certain services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights necessary to enable us to implement some of our applications.

Our ability to implement and provide our applications and services to our clients depends, in part, on services, goods, technology, and intellectual property rights owned or controlled by third parties. These third parties may become unable to or refuse to continue to provide these services, goods, technology, or intellectual property rights on commercially reasonable terms consistent with our business practices, or otherwise discontinue a service important for us to continue to operate our applications. If we fail to replace these services, goods, technologies, or intellectual property rights in a timely manner or on commercially reasonable terms, our operating results and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, we exercise limited control over our third-party vendors, which increases our vulnerability to problems with technology and services those vendors provide. If the services, technology, or intellectual property of third parties were to fail to perform as expected, it could subject us to potential liability, adversely affect our renewal rates, and have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Indemnity provisions in various agreements potentially expose us to substantial liability for intellectual property infringement and other losses.

Our agreements with advertisers, advertising agencies, customers and other third parties may include indemnification provisions under which we agree to indemnify them for losses suffered or incurred as a result of claims of intellectual property infringement, damages caused by us to property or persons, or other liabilities relating to or arising from our products, services or other contractual obligations. The term of these indemnity provisions generally survives termination or expiration of the applicable agreement. Large indemnity payments would harm our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any type of intellectual property lawsuit, whether initiated by us or a third party, would likely be time consuming and expensive to resolve and would divert management's time and attention.

Our ability to sell our services is dependent on the quality of our technical support services, and our failure to offer high quality technical support services could have an adverse effect on our sales and results of operations.

Once our services are deployed within our end-customers' operations, end-customers depend on our technical support services to resolve any issues relating to these products. If we do not effectively assist our customers in deploying these services, succeed in helping our customers quickly resolve post-deployment issues, and provide effective ongoing support, our ability to sell additional services to existing customers could be adversely affected and our reputation with potential customers could be damaged. As a result, our failure to maintain high quality support services would have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

If we fail to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers, we may not have adequate access to new or key technology necessary for our products, which may impair our ability to deliver leading-edge products.

In addition to the technologies we develop, our suppliers develop product innovations at our direction that are requested by our customers. Further, we rely heavily on our component suppliers, such as Apple, to provide us with leading-edge components that conform to required specifications or contractual arrangements on time and in accordance with a product roadmap. If we are not able to maintain or expand our relationships with our suppliers or continue to leverage their research and development capabilities to develop new technologies desired by our customers, our ability to deliver leading-edge products in a timely manner may be impaired and we could be required to incur additional research and development expenses. Also, disruption in our supply chain or the need to find alternative suppliers could impact the costs and/or timing associated with procuring necessary products, components and services. Similarly, suppliers have operating risks that could impact our business. These risks could create product time delays, inventory and invoicing problems, staging delays, and other operational difficulties.

Our failure to deliver high quality server solutions could damage our reputation and diminish demand for our products, and subject us to liability.

Our customers require our products to perform at a high level, contain valuable features and be extremely reliable. The design of our server solutions is sophisticated and complex, and the process for manufacturing, assembling and testing our server solutions is challenging. Occasionally, our design or manufacturing processes may fail to deliver products of the quality that our customers require. For example, a vendor may provide us with a defective component that failed under certain heavy use applications. As a result, our product would need to be repaired. The vendor may agree to pay for the costs of the repairs, but we may incur costs in connection with the recall and diverted resources from other projects. New flaws or limitations in our products may be detected in the future. Part of our strategy is to bring new products to market quickly, and first-generation products may have a higher likelihood of containing undetected flaws. If our customers discover defects or other performance problems with our products, our customers' businesses, and our reputation, may be damaged. Customers may elect to delay or withhold payment for defective or underperforming products, request remedial action, terminate contracts for untimely delivery, or elect not to order additional products. If we do not properly address customer concerns about our products, our reputation and relationships with our customers may be harmed. In addition, we may be subject to product liability claims for a defective product. Any of the foregoing could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

The market is competitive and our success is reliant upon our ability to keep up with rapid technological advances.

We operate in a highly competitive and rapidly changing marketplace with a variety of organizations that offer services competitive with those we offer. The markets for the Company's products and services are highly competitive, and the Company is confronted by aggressive competition in all areas of its business. These markets are characterized by frequent product introductions and rapid technological advances that have substantially increased the capabilities and use of mobile communication and media devices, personal computers, and other digital electronic devices. The Company's competitors may aggressively cut prices or lower their product margins to gain or maintain market share. Principal competitive factors important to the Company include price, product features, relative price/performance, product quality and reliability, design innovation, a strong third-party software and accessories ecosystem, marketing and distribution capability, service and support, and corporate reputation.

The products we sell are advanced, and we need to rapidly and successfully develop and introduce new products in a competitive, demanding and rapidly changing environment.

To succeed in our intensely competitive industry, we must continually improve, refresh and expand our product and service offerings to include newer features, functionality or solutions, and keep pace with price-to-performance gains in the industry. Shortened product life cycles due to customer demands and competitive pressures impact the pace at which we must introduce and implement new technology. This requires a high level of innovation by both our software developers and the suppliers of the third-party software components included in our systems. In addition, bringing new solutions to the market entails a costly and lengthy process, and requires us to accurately anticipate customer needs and technology trends. We must continue to respond to market demands, develop leading technologies and maintain leadership in analytic data solutions performance and scalability, or our business operations may be adversely affected.

We must also anticipate and respond to customer demands regarding the compatibility of our current and prior offerings. These demands could hinder the pace of introducing and implementing new technology. Our future results may be affected if our products cannot effectively interface and perform well with software products of other companies and with our customers' existing IT infrastructures, or if we are unsuccessful in our efforts to enter into agreements allowing integration of third-party technology with our database and software platforms. Our efforts to develop the interoperability of our products may require significant investments of capital and employee resources. In addition, many of our principal products are used with products offered by third parties and, in the future, some vendors of non-Company products may become less willing to provide us with access to their products, technical information and marketing and sales support. As a result of these and other factors, our ability to introduce new or improved solutions could be adversely impacted and our business would be negatively affected.

Industry consolidation may result in increased competition, which could result in a loss of customers or a reduction in revenue.

Some of our competitors have made or may make acquisitions or may enter into partnerships or other strategic relationships to offer more comprehensive services than they individually had offered or achieve greater economies of scale. In addition, new entrants not currently considered to be competitors may enter our market through acquisitions, partnerships or strategic relationships. We expect these trends to continue as companies attempt to strengthen or maintain their market positions. The potential entrants may have competitive advantages over us, such as greater name recognition, longer operating histories, more varied services and larger marketing budgets, as well as greater financial, technical and other resources. The companies resulting from combinations or that expand or vertically integrate their business to include the market that we address may create more compelling service offerings and may offer greater pricing flexibility than we can or may engage in business practices that make it more difficult for us to compete effectively, including on the basis of price, sales and marketing programs, technology or service functionality. These pressures could result in a substantial loss of our customers or a reduction in our revenue.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. These intrusions sometimes may be zero-day malware that are difficult to identify because they are not included in the signature set of commercially available antivirus scanning programs. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our network security and misappropriate or compromise our confidential information or that of our customers or other third-parties, create system disruptions, or cause shutdowns. Additionally, sophisticated software and applications that we produce or procure from third-parties may contain defects in design or manufacture, including "bugs" and other problems that could unexpectedly interfere with the operation of the information infrastructure. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

If our customers fail to renew subscriptions in accordance with our expectations, our future revenue and operating results could suffer.

Our products involve subscription-based offerings pursuant to product and service agreements. Revenue from our subscription customers is generally recognized ratably over the term of their agreements, which are typically monthly or annually. Our customers have no obligation to renew their subscriptions for our services after the expiration of their initial subscription period, and customers may not renew their subscriptions at the same or higher level of service, for the same number of seats or for the same duration of time, if at all. Moreover, under certain circumstances, some of our customers have the right to cancel their agreements prior to the expiration of the terms. Our varied customer base combined with the flexibility we offer in the length of our subscription-based agreements complicates our ability to precisely forecast renewal rates. Therefore, we cannot provide assurance that we will be able to accurately predict future customer renewal rates.

Our customers' renewal rates may decline or fluctuate as a result of a number of factors, including their level of satisfaction with our services, our ability to continue enhancing features and functionality, the reliability (including uptime) of our subscription offerings, the prices of offerings and those offered by our competitors, the actual or perceived information security of our systems and services, decreases in the size of our customer base, reductions in our customers' spending levels or declines in customer activity as a result of economic downturns or uncertainty in financial markets, including as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. If our customers do not renew their subscriptions or if they renew on terms less favorable to us, our revenue may decline.

If we do not respond to technological changes or upgrade our websites and technology systems, our growth prospects and results of operations could be adversely affected.

To remain competitive, we must continue to enhance and improve the functionality and features of our websites and technology infrastructure. As a result, we will need to continue to improve and expand our hosting and network infrastructure and related software capabilities. These improvements may require greater levels of spending than we have experienced in the past. Without such improvements, our operations might suffer from unanticipated system disruptions, slow application performance or unreliable service levels, any of which could negatively affect our reputation and ability to attract and retain customers and contributors. Furthermore, in order to continue to attract and retain new customers, we are likely to incur expenses in connection with continuously updating and improving our user interface and experience. We may face significant delays in introducing new services, products and enhancements. If competitors introduce new products and services using new technologies or if new industry standards and practices emerge, our existing websites and our proprietary technology and systems may become obsolete or less competitive, and our business may be harmed. In addition, the expansion and improvement of our systems and infrastructure may require us to commit substantial financial, operational and technical resources, with no assurance that our business will improve.

An intentional or unintentional disruption, failure, misappropriation or corruption of our network and information systems could severely affect our business.

Such an event might be caused by computer hacking, computer viruses, worms and other destructive or disruptive software, “cyber attacks” and other malicious activity, as well as natural disasters, power outages, terrorist attacks and similar events. Such events could have an adverse impact on us and our customers, including degradation of service, service disruption. In addition, our future results could be adversely affected due to the theft, destruction, loss, misappropriation or release of confidential customer data or intellectual property. Operational or business delays may result from the disruption of network or information systems and the subsequent remediation activities. Moreover, these events may create negative publicity resulting in reputation or brand damage with customers.

Our business could be negatively impacted by cyber security threats, attacks and other disruptions.

Like others in our industry, we continue to face advanced and persistent attacks on our information infrastructure where we manage and store various proprietary information and sensitive/confidential data relating to our operations. These attacks may include sophisticated malware (viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs) and phishing emails that attack our products or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. A disruption, infiltration or failure of our information infrastructure systems or any of our data centers as a result of software or hardware malfunctions, computer viruses, cyber attacks, employee theft or misuse, power disruptions, natural disasters or accidents could cause breaches of data security, loss of critical data and performance delays, which in turn could adversely affect our business.

Failure to obtain new clients or renew client contracts on favorable terms could adversely affect results of operations.

We may face pricing pressure in obtaining and retaining our clients. Our clients may be able to seek price reductions from us when they renew a contract, when a contract is extended, or when the client's business has significant volume changes. They may also reduce services if they decide to move services in-house. On some occasions, this pricing pressure results in lower revenue from a client than we had anticipated based on our previous agreement with that client. This reduction in revenue could result in an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Further, failure to renew client contracts on favorable terms could have an adverse effect on our business. Our contracts with clients generally run for several years and include liquidated damage provisions that provide for early termination fees. Terms are generally renegotiated prior to the end of a contract's term. If we are not successful in achieving a high rate of contract renewals on favorable terms, our business and results of operations could be adversely affected.

Risks Related to the Securities

Affiliates of the Company, including officers, directors and existing shareholders of the Company, may invest in this Offering and their funds will be counted toward the Company achieving the Minimum Amount.

There is no restriction on affiliates of the Company, including its officers, directors and existing shareholders, investing in the Offering. As a result, it is possible that if the Company has raised some funds, but not reached the Minimum Amount, affiliates can contribute the balance so that there will be a closing. The Minimum Amount is typically intended to be a protection for investors and gives investors confidence that other investors, along with them, are sufficiently interested in the Offering and the Company and its prospects to make an investment of at least the Minimum Amount. By permitting affiliates to invest in the offering and make up any shortfall between what non-affiliate investors have invested and the Minimum Amount, this protection is largely eliminated. Investors should be aware that no funds other than their own and those of affiliates investing along with them may be invested in this Offering.

The Crowd Notes will not be freely tradable until one year from the initial purchase date. Although the Crowd Notes may be tradable under federal securities law, state securities regulations may apply and each Purchaser should consult with his or her attorney.

You should be aware of the long-term nature of this investment. There is not now and likely will not be a public market for the Crowd Notes. Because the Crowd Notes have not been registered under the Securities Act or under the securities laws of any state or non-United States jurisdiction, the Crowd Notes have transfer restrictions and cannot be resold in the United States except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF. It is not currently contemplated that registration under the Securities Act or other securities laws will be effected. Limitations on the transfer of the Crowd Notes may also adversely affect the price that you might be able to obtain for the Crowd Notes in a private sale. Purchasers should be aware of the long-term nature of their investment in the Company. Each Purchaser in this Offering will be required to represent that it is purchasing the Securities for its own account, for investment purposes and not with a view to resale or distribution thereof.

Neither the Offering nor the Securities have been registered under federal or state securities laws, leading to an absence of certain regulation applicable to the Company.

No governmental agency has reviewed or passed upon this Offering, the Company or any Securities of the Company. The Company also has relied on exemptions from securities registration requirements under applicable state securities laws. Investors in the Company, therefore, will not receive any of the benefits that such registration would otherwise provide. Prospective investors must therefore assess the adequacy of disclosure and the fairness of the terms of this Offering on their own or in conjunction with their personal advisors.

No Guarantee of Return on Investment

There is no assurance that a Purchaser will realize a return on its investment or that it will not lose its entire investment. For this reason, each Purchaser should read the Form C/A and all Exhibits carefully and should consult with its own attorney and business advisor prior to making any investment decision.

A majority of the Company is owned by a small number of owners.

Prior to the Offering the Company's current owners of 20% or more beneficially own up to 94.2% of the Company. Subject to any fiduciary duties owed to our other owners or investors under Delaware law, these owners may be able to exercise significant influence over matters requiring owner approval, including the election of directors or managers and approval of significant Company transactions, and will have significant control over the Company's management and policies. Some of these persons may have interests that are different from yours. For example, these owners may support proposals and actions with which you may disagree. The concentration of ownership could delay or prevent a change in control of the Company or otherwise discourage a potential acquirer from attempting to obtain control of the Company, which in turn could reduce the price potential investors are willing to pay for the Company. In addition, these owners could use their voting influence to maintain the Company's existing management, delay or prevent changes in control of the Company, or support or reject other management and board proposals that are subject to owner approval.

The Company has the right to extend the Offering deadline.

The Company may extend the Offering deadline beyond what is currently stated herein. This means that your investment may continue to be held in escrow while the Company attempts to raise the Minimum Amount even after the Offering deadline stated herein is reached. Your investment will not be accruing interest during this time and will simply be held until such time as the new Offering deadline is reached without the Company receiving the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be returned to you without interest or deduction, or the Company receives the Minimum Amount, at which time it will be released to the Company to be used as set forth herein. Upon or shortly after release of such funds to the Company, the Securities will be issued and distributed to you.

You will not have a vote or influence on the management of the Company.

All decisions with respect to the management of the Company will be made exclusively by the officers, directors, managers or employees of the Company. You, as a Purchaser of Crowd Notes, will have no ability to vote on issues of Company management and will not have the right or power to take part in the management of the company and will not be represented on the board of directors or managers of the Company. Accordingly, no person should purchase a Security unless he or she is willing to entrust all aspects of management to the Company.

The Company may never elect to convert the Securities or undergo a liquidity event.

The Company may never receive a future equity financing or, with respect to those Purchasers who invest less than $25,000, elect to convert the Securities upon such future financing. In addition, the Company may never undergo a liquidity event such as a sale of the Company or an IPO. If neither the conversion of the Securities nor a liquidity event occurs, the Purchasers could be left holding the Securities in perpetuity. The Securities have numerous transfer restrictions and will likely be highly illiquid, with no secondary market on which to sell them. The Securities are not equity interests, have no ownership rights, have no rights to the Company's assets or profits and have no voting rights or ability to direct the Company or its actions.

There is no present market for the Securities, and we have arbitrarily set the price.

We have arbitrarily set the price of the Securities with reference to the general status of the securities market and other relevant factors. The Offering price for the Securities should not be considered an indication of the actual value of the Securities and is not based on our net worth or prior earnings. We cannot assure you that the Securities could be resold by you at the Offering price or at any other price.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes, Purchasers who are not "Major Investors" will grant a proxy to vote their underlying securities to the intermediary or its affiliate, and, thus, will not have the right to vote on any matters coming before the shareholders of the Company for a vote. By granting this proxy you are giving up your right to vote on important matters, including significant corporate actions like mergers, amendments to our certificate of incorporation, a liquidation of our company and the election of our directors.

Upon conversion of the Crowd Notes and by virtue of a provision contained in the Crowd Notes, if you are not a Major Investor, that is, an investor who has purchased at least $25,000 in principal amount of the Crowd Notes, you will grant a proxy to the intermediary or its affiliate to vote the underlying securities that you will acquire upon conversion on all matters coming before the shareholders for a vote. The intermediary does not have any fiduciary duty to you to vote in a manner that is in your best interests. Accordingly, the intermediary may vote its proxy in a manner that may not be in the best interests of you as a security holder. For example, the intermediary may vote the proxy in favor of an amendment to our charter that adversely affects the rights of the holders of your class of securities in order to allow for a new investment to occur where the new investor requires senior rights.

The Company has the right to conduct multiple closings during the Offering.

If the Company meets certain terms and conditions, and more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline, an intermediate close of the Offering can occur, which will allow the Company to draw down on the first $75,000 of the proceeds of the offering committed and captured during the relevant period, as well as every $125,000 raised after. The Company may choose to continue the Offering thereafter. Purchasers should be mindful that this means they can make multiple investment commitments in the offering, which may be subject to different cancellation rights. For example, if an intermediate close occurs and later a material change occurs as the Offering continues, Purchasers previously closed upon will not have the right to re-confirm their investment as it will be deemed completed.

Purchasers will be unable to declare the Security in "default" and demand repayment.

Unlike convertible notes and some other securities, the Securities do not have any "default" provisions upon which the Purchasers will be able to demand repayment of their investment. With respect to Purchasers who invest less than $25,000 in the Securities, the Company has ultimate discretion as to whether or not to convert the Securities upon a future equity financing and such Purchasers have no right to demand such conversion. Only in limited circumstances, such as a liquidity event, may Such Purchasers demand payment and even then, such payments will be limited to the amount of cash available to the Company.

In addition to the risks listed above, businesses are often subject to risks not foreseen or fully appreciated by the management. It is not possible to foresee all risks that may affect us. Moreover, the Company cannot predict whether the Company will successfully effectuate the Company's current business plan. Each prospective Purchaser is encouraged to carefully analyze the risks and merits of an investment in the Securities and should take into consideration when making such analysis, among other, the Risk Factors discussed above.

THE SECURITIES OFFERED INVOLVE A HIGH DEGREE OF RISK AND MAY RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR ENTIRE INVESTMENT. ANY PERSON CONSIDERING THE PURCHASE OF THESE SECURITIES SHOULD BE AWARE OF THESE AND OTHER FACTORS SET FORTH IN THIS FORM C/A AND SHOULD CONSULT WITH HIS OR HER LEGAL, TAX AND FINANCIAL ADVISORS PRIOR TO MAKING AN INVESTMENT IN THE SECURITIES. THE SECURITIES SHOULD ONLY BE PURCHASED BY PERSONS WHO CAN AFFORD TO LOSE ALL OF THEIR INVESTMENT.

Business Plan

UNOMi is a software product for animators, content creators, and video game developers. UNOMi leverages advanced, patent-pending voice recognition and motion capture technology to automate many aspects of animation production. Our voice recognition software understands human speech in multiple languages. This allows animators to easily create the speech of multiple two-dimensional and three-dimensional animated characters. UNOMi's motion capture software is engineered to give content creators the ability to easily track human movement within their home or studio, eliminating the need to rent expensive motion capture studio space and equipment. By leveraging our technology, large-scale animation studios may be able to reduce production costs and times, allowing them to create more content in a shorter amount of time. UNOMi plans to use the proceeds of this Offering to expand on its suite of products and create features that enable customers to easily create content.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Please see the financial information listed on the cover page of this Form C/A and attached hereto in addition to the following information. Financial statements are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Operations

We are currently focusing on developing our software products and gaining traction amongst early adopters rather than generating revenue. We are not certain when or if we will generate profits in the future, and intend to devote our resources to marketing and sales in the near future.

The Company does not expect to achieve profitability in the next 12 months and intends to focus on the following: our go to market strategy, hiring out a sales team, developing relationships among influential members of the animation community, and product development.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Offering proceeds are essential to our operations. We plan to use the proceeds as set forth above under "Use of Proceeds", which is an indispensable element of our business strategy. The Offering proceeds may have an effect on our liquidity, as we currently have minimal cash on hand which will be augmented by the Offering proceeds and used to execute our business strategy.

Capital Expenditures and Other Obligations

The Company does not intend to make any material capital expenditures in the future.

Material Changes and Other Information

Trends and Uncertainties

After reviewing the above discussion of the steps the Company intends to take, potential Purchasers should consider whether achievement of each step within the estimated time frame is realistic in their judgment. Potential Purchasers should also assess the consequences to the Company of any delays in taking these steps and whether the Company will need additional financing to accomplish them.

The financial statements are an important part of this Form C/A and should be reviewed in their entirety. The financial statements of the Company are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

THE OFFERING AND THE SECURITIES

The Offering

The Company is offering up to 428,000 in principal amount of Crowd Notes for up to $428,000.00. The Company is attempting to raise a minimum amount of $25,000.00 in this Offering (the "Minimum Amount"). The Company must receive commitments from investors in an amount totaling the Minimum Amount by June 21, 2021 (the "Offering Deadline") in order to receive any funds. If the sum of the investment commitments does not equal or exceed the Minimum Amount by the Offering Deadline, no Securities will be sold in the Offering, investment commitments will be cancelled and committed funds will be returned to potential investors without interest or deductions. The Company has the right to extend the Offering Deadline at its discretion. The Company will accept investments in excess of the Minimum Amount up to $428,000.00 (the "Maximum Amount") and the additional Securities will be allocated on a At the Company's discretion.

The price of the Securities does not necessarily bear any relationship to the Company's asset value, net worth, revenues or other established criteria of value, and should not be considered indicative of the actual value of the Securities.

In order to purchase the Securities you must make a commitment to purchase by completing the Subscription Agreement. Purchaser funds will be held in escrow with Evolve Bank & Trust until the Minimum Amount of investments is reached. Purchasers may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the Offering Deadline or the Closing, whichever comes first using the cancellation mechanism provided by the Intermediary. The Company will notify Purchasers when the Minimum Amount has been reached. If the Company reaches the Minimum Amount prior to the Offering Deadline, it may close the Offering at least five (5) days after reaching the Minimum Amount and providing notice to the Purchasers. If any material change (other than reaching the Minimum Amount) occurs related to the Offering prior to the Offering Deadline, the Company will provide notice to Purchasers and receive reconfirmations from Purchasers who have already made commitments. If a Purchaser does not reconfirm his or her investment commitment after a material change is made to the terms of the Offering, the Purchaser's investment commitment will be cancelled and the committed funds will be returned without interest or deductions.

In the event that $75,000 in investments is committed and received by the escrow agent and more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline, the Company may conduct the first of multiple closings of the Offering (an "Intermediate Close"), provided all investors receive notice that an Intermediate Close will occur and funds will be released to the Company, at least five (5) business days prior to the Intermediate Close (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment). Investors who committed on or before such notice will have until 48 hours before the Intermediate Close to cancel their investment commitment.

In the event the Company does conduct the first of multiple closes, the Company agrees to only withdraw $75,000 from escrow and will only conduct the Intermediate Close if more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline. The Company may only conduct another Intermediate Close before the Offering Deadline if: (i) the amount of investment commitments made and received in escrow exceeds $125,000 since the time of the last Intermediate Close; and (ii) more than thirty (30) days remain before the Offering Deadline.

If a Purchaser does not cancel an investment commitment before an Intermediate Close or before the Offering Deadline, the funds will be released to the Company upon closing of the Offering and the Purchaser will receive the Securities in exchange for his or her investment. Any Purchaser funds received after the initial closing will be released to the Company upon a subsequent closing, and the Purchaser will receive Securities in exchange for his or her investment as soon as practicable thereafter.

The Company agrees to return all funds to investors in the event a Form C-W is ultimately filed in relation to this Offering, regardless of any subsequent closes.

Subscription Agreements are not binding on the Company until accepted by the Company, which reserves the right to reject, in whole or in part, in its sole and absolute discretion, any subscription. If the Company rejects all or a portion of any subscription, the applicable prospective Purchaser's funds will be returned without interest or deduction.

The price of the Securities was determined arbitrarily. The minimum amount that a Purchaser may invest in the Offering is $100.00.

The Offering is being made through MicroVenture Marketplace, Inc., the Intermediary. The following two fields set forth the compensation being paid in connection with the Offering.

Commission/Fees

At the conclusion of the Offering, the Issuer shall pay to the Intermediary a fee consisting of five percent (5%) commission based on the amount of investments raised in the Offering and paid upon distribution of funds from escrow at the time of closing.

Stock, Warrants and Other Compensation

The Intermediary will be entitled to receive a number of Crowd Notes of the issuer that is equal to two percent (2%) of the total number of Crowd Notes sold by the Issuer in the Offering related to the purchase and sale of the Securities.

Transfer Agent and Registrar

The Company will act as transfer agent and registrar for the Securities.

The Securities

We request that you please review our organizational documents and the Crowd Note in conjunction with the following summary information.

Authorized Capitalization

See “CAPITALIZATION AND OWNERSHIP” above.

General

A Crowd Note is similar to a SAFE (Simple Agreement for Future Equity) security where an investor makes a cash investment in our company, but gets company stock at a later date in connection with a specific event. Although the security is called a Crowd Note, the Crowd Note is not a debt instrument. It is intended to be an alternative to a convertible note that is beneficial for both our company and you as an investor.

Events Triggering Conversion of Crowd Notes

If you are a Major Investor, which is defined as an investor who invests at least $25,000 in this offering, then the specified event upon which the Crowd Note would convert into capital stock of our company is a Qualified Equity Financing, which we define below.

If you are not a Major Investor, then the Crowd Note will only convert into capital stock of our company upon the earlier of (i) our company’s election to convert your Crowd Note, or (ii) a Corporate Transaction that occurs after a Qualified Equity Financing.

Qualified Equity Financing

The Crowd Note defines “Qualified Equity Financing” as the first sale (or series of related sales) by us of our preferred stock following the closing of this offering from which we receive gross proceeds of not less than $1,000,000.00 (excluding the aggregate amount of securities converted into preferred stock in connection with such sale (or series of related sales)).

If the Crowd Note converts into equity in connection with a Qualified Equity Financing, then we will convert the Crowd Note into shares of our preferred stock that are issued in connection with the Qualified Equity Financing, which we refer to as Conversion Shares, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing the outstanding principal amount of the Crowd Note by the Conversion Price, which is defined below. The issuance of Conversion Shares will be on the same terms and conditions applicable to the stock sold in the Qualified Equity Financing; provided, however, that if you are not a Major Investor, you will receive shares of a shadow series, as we describe below, with certain limited rights. The Conversion Price applicable to a Qualified Equity Financing is the lower of:

(A) the product of (1) one minus any applicable Discount, and (2) the price paid per share for preferred stock by the investors in the Qualified Equity Financing, or

(B) the quotient resulting from dividing (1) the Valuation Cap ($4 million or $5 million, depending on whether the Purchaser is an early bird investor), as defined below by (2) the total number of our shares of capital stock that are outstanding on a fully diluted basis (assuming for this purpose the exercise, exchange or conversion of all securities exercisable or exchangeable for, or convertible into, our capital stock), immediately prior to the closing of the Qualified Equity Financing.

Any investor who is not a Major Investor will receive a shadow series of preferred stock upon conversion of such investor’s Crowd Note. A shadow series is a series of our preferred stock that is identical in all respects to the shares of preferred stock issued in the Qualified Equity Financing (e.g., if the Company sells Series A Preferred Stock in the Qualified Equity Financing, the shadow series would be Series A-1 Preferred Stock), except that the liquidation preference per share of the shadow series shall equal the Conversion Price and the following additional differences will apply:

(i) shadow series shareholders will grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the stockholders of our company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy; and

(ii) shadow series shareholders will receive quarterly business updates from the company through the Platform but will have no additional information or inspection rights (except with respect to such rights which are required by law).

Corporate Transaction and Corporate Transaction Payment

The Crowd Note defines “Corporate Transaction” as

(i) the closing of the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of our assets,

(ii) the consummation of the merger or consolidation of our company with or into another entity (except a merger or consolidation in which the holders of capital stock of our company immediately prior to such merger or consolidation continue to hold at least 50% of the voting power of the capital stock of our company or the surviving or acquiring entity),

(iii) the closing of the transfer (whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise), in one transaction or a series of related transactions, to a person or group of affiliated persons (other than an underwriter of our securities), of securities of our company if, after such closing, such person or group of affiliated persons would hold 50% or more of the outstanding voting stock of our company (or the surviving or acquiring entity), or

(iv) the initial public offering, liquidation, dissolution or winding up of our company; provided, however, that a transaction shall not constitute a Corporate Transaction if its sole purpose is to change the state of our incorporation or to create a holding company that will be owned in substantially the same proportions by the persons who held our securities immediately prior to such transaction.

In the event of a Corporate Transaction (defined above), you will receive an amount equal to two times (2X) the price you paid for your Crowd Note and accrued interest thereupon (i.e., 2x your principal amount and unpaid accrued interest). If there are not enough funds to pay you and other Crowd Note investors in full, then proceeds from the respective transaction will be distributed with equal priority and pro rata among the Crowd Note investors in proportion to their Outstanding Principal (as defined in the Crowd Note).

Termination of Crowd Note

The Crowd Notes will terminate upon the earlier of: (a) a conversion of the entire Outstanding Principal under the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares; or (b) the payment of amounts due to the investor pursuant to a Corporate Transaction.

Additional Transfer Restrictions

In addition, you may not transfer the Crowd Notes or any securities into which they are convertible to any of our competitors, as determined by us in good faith.

IPO Lock Up

Furthermore, upon the event of an initial public offering, the equity interest into which the Crowd Notes are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such initial public offering.

No Voting Rights, No Shareholders Agreement and No Anti-Dilution Rights

The Crowd Notes do not have any voting rights. Further, upon conversion of the Crowd Notes into Conversion Shares, shadow series shareholders shall grant their vote on any matter that is submitted to a vote or for the consent of the members of the Company (except for on matters required by law) by irrevocable proxy.

The Company does not have any shareholder/equity holder agreements in place.

The Securities do not have anti-dilution rights.

Restrictions on Transfer

Any Securities sold pursuant to Regulation CF being offered may not be transferred by any Purchaser of such Securities during the one-year holding period beginning when the Securities were issued, unless such Securities are transferred: 1) to the Company, 2) to an accredited investor, as defined by Rule 501(d) of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act, 3) as part of an IPO or 4) to a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, to a trust controlled by the Purchaser, to a trust created for the benefit of a member of the family of the Investor or the equivalent, or in connection with the death or divorce of the Investor or other similar circumstances. "Member of the family" as used herein means a child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse or spousal equivalent, sibling, mother/father/daughter/son/sister/brother-in-law, and includes adoptive relationships. Remember that although you may legally be able to transfer the Securities, you may not be able to find another party willing to purchase them.

In addition to the foregoing restrictions, prior to making any transfer of the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible, such transferring Purchaser must either make such transfer pursuant to an effective registration statement filed with the SEC or provide the Company with an opinion of counsel stating that a registration statement is not necessary to effect such transfer.

In addition, the Purchaser may not transfer the Securities or any Securities into which they are convertible to any of the Company's competitors, as determined by the Company in good faith.

Furthermore, upon the event of an IPO, the capital stock into which the Securities are converted will be subject to a lock-up period and may not be sold for up to 180 days following such IPO.

Other Material Terms

The Company does not have the right to repurchase the Securities.

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS' REVIEW REPORT

To Management and Shareholders
Oomi, Inc.
Venice, CA

Report on the Financial Statements

We have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Oomi, Inc. (the "Company") (a Delaware corporation), which comprise the balance sheets as December 31, 2019 and 2018, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' deficit, and of cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of Company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Accountants' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to conduct the review engagement in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. Those standards require us to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether we are aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. We believe that the results of our procedures provide a reasonable basis for our conclusion.

Accountants' Conclusion

Based on our review, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Emphasis of Matter Regarding Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As described in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company has experienced operational losses since Inception and requires additional capital to operate. These factors, among others, raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans in regard to these matters are also described in Note 1. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

(which may be referred to as “Oomi”, “the Company”, “we,” “us”, or “our”) included herein are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“U.S. GAAP”). The Company is located in Venice, California.

Oomi has developed a premium tool that easily syncs 2D and 3D mouth poses to voice over recordings for animation.

Management Plans

The Company has limited revenue producing activity and has sustained losses since Inception. The Company relies on shareholder and third party financing to support operations. These above matters raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. During the next 12 months, the Company intends to fund its operations through additional related party advances and a proposed Regulation Crowdfunding financing. If we cannot raise additional short-term capital, we may consume all of our cash reserved for operations. There are no assurances that management will be able to raise capital on terms acceptable to the Company. If we are unable to obtain sufficient amounts of additional capital, we may be required to reduce the scope of our planned development, which could harm our business, financial condition and operating results. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from these uncertainties.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could materially differ from these estimates. It is reasonably possible that changes in estimates will occur in the near term.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants as of the measurement date. Applicable accounting guidance provides an established hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are inputs that market participants would use in valuing the asset or liability and are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the Company’s assumptions about the factors that market participants would use in valuing the asset or liability.

There are three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

- Level 1 - Observable inputs that reflect quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.
- Level 2 - Include other inputs that are directly or indirectly observable in the marketplace.
- Level 3 - Unobservable inputs which are supported by little or no market activity.

The fair value hierarchy also requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value.

OOMI, INC.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

Fair-value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management as of December 31, 2019 and 2018. The respective carrying value of certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values.

The SAFE is considered a level 3 liability as there are no observable direct or indirect inputs. Based on management's estimates as of December 31, 2019, the fair value of this instrument is considered to be the carrying value. Management's estimates are based on the short duration of the outstanding SAFE, the fact that market circumstances have not changed materially since the instrument was originated, and that the SAFE was sold to unrelated parties. Accordingly, there has been no change in valuation during the periods presented.

Risks and Uncertainties

The Company has a limited operating history and has generated limited revenues from intended operations. The Company's business and operations are sensitive to general business and economic conditions in the U.S. along with local, state, and federal governmental policy decisions. A host of factors beyond the Company's control could cause fluctuations in these conditions. Adverse conditions may include: advancement in competing technology, adoption of industry, support required to update technology, and trends in the animation industry. These adverse conditions could affect the Company's financial condition and the results of its operations.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Software Development Costs

The Company applies the principles of ASC 985-20, Software-Costs of Computer Software to Be Sold, Leased, or Otherwise Marketed ("ASC 985-20"). ASC 985-20 requires that software development costs incurred in conjunction with product development be charged to research and development expense until technological feasibility is established. Software development costs include payments made to independent software developers under development agreements, as well as direct costs incurred internally. Under our current practice of developing software, the technological feasibility of the underlying software is not established until substantially all product development and testing is complete, which generally includes the development of a working model. Prior to a product's release, if and when we believe capitalized costs are not recoverable, we expense the amounts as part of cost of sales. No software costs have been capitalized to date.

Accounting for Convertible Notes and Securities with Beneficial Conversion Features

The Company reviews the terms of convertible debt and equity instruments it issues to determine whether there are derivative financial instruments, including an embedded conversion option that is required to be bifurcated and accounted for separately as a derivative financial instrument. In circumstances where a host instrument contains more than one embedded derivative instrument, including a conversion option, that is required to be bifurcated, the bifurcated derivative instruments are accounted for as a single, compound derivative instrument. Also, in connection with the sale of convertible debt and equity instruments, the Company may issue freestanding warrants that may, depending on their terms, be accounted for as derivative liabilities rather than as equity.

The discount from the face value of the convertible debt, together with the stated interest on the instrument, is amortized over the life of the instrument through periodic charges to interest expense, using the effective interest method.

Simple Agreements for Future Equity (“SAFE” or “SAFEs”)

The Company has accounted for its SAFEs as derivative liabilities under the FASB’s ASC section 815-40 and ASC section 815-10. If any changes in the fair value of the SAFEs occur, the Company will record such changes through earnings, under the guidance prescribed by ASC 825-10.

Revenue Recognition

ASC Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entity’s contracts to provide goods or services to customers.

Revenues are recognized when control of the promised goods or services are transferred to a customer, in an amount that reflects the consideration that the Company expects to receive in exchange for those goods or services. The Company applies the following five steps in order to determine the appropriate amount of revenue to be recognized as it fulfills its obligations under each of its agreements: 1) identify the contract with a customer; 2) identify the performance obligations in the contract; 3) determine the transaction price; 4) allocate the transaction price to performance obligations in the contract; and 5) recognize revenue as the performance obligation is satisfied.

The Company generates revenues by selling monthly or annual subscriptions to users. The Company defers any portion of the revenue that is not yet earned based on the service period of the contract.

Research and Development

The Company incurs research and development costs during the process of researching and developing its technologies and future product offerings. Research and development costs consist primarily of services to research or advance our technology and software development costs that are not capitalizable. These costs are expensed as incurred until the resulting product has been completed, tested, and made ready for commercial use. Research and development costs expensed were $125,181 and $44,365 for the years ended December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018, respectively.

Income Taxes

The Company applies ASC 740 Income Taxes (“ASC 740”). Deferred income taxes are recognized for the tax consequences in future years of differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their financial statement reported amounts at each period end, based on enacted tax laws and statutory tax rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized. The provision for income taxes represents the tax expense for the period, if any and the change during the period in deferred tax assets and liabilities.

ASC 740 also provides criteria for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of uncertain tax positions. A tax benefit from an uncertain position is recognized only if it is “more likely than not” that the position is sustainable upon examination by the relevant taxing authority based on its technical merit.

The Company’s net deferred tax asset at December 31, 2019 and 2018 was approximately $78,000 and $52,000, respectively, which primarily consists of net operating loss carry forwards. As of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company provided a 100% valuation allowance against the net deferred tax assets, which management could not determine, would more likely than not be realized. During the year ended December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company recorded an increase to valuation allowance for approximately $25,000 and $13,000, respectively.

At December 31, 2019, the Company had federal and state net operating loss carry forwards of approximately $242,000. Net operating loss carryforwards prior to 2018 expire in 20 years while carryforwards after such time do not expire.

See the accompanying independent accountants’ review report.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains its cash with a major financial institution located in the United States of America which it believes to be credit worthy. Balances are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000.

NOTE 3 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company is not currently involved with, and does not know of any, pending or threatened litigation against the Company or any of its officers.

NOTE 4 – CONVERTIBLE DEBT AND OTHER LIABILITIES

Convertible Debts

During 2019 the Company entered into a convertible note payable (the “Note”) agreement with a vendor for an amount up to $150,000. The Note calls for services to be provided by the vendor which will cause payables to be due, and in exchange for their services and related payable, they would be credited portions of the Note based on milestones achieved. During 2019, the vendor achieved two milestones for a total of $20,000. The remaining $130,000 of the Note is dependent on additional milestones was not achieved as of December 31, 2019. The Notes bear interest at 5.5% per annum, and matures in October 2021. Interest on this note as of December 31, 2019 was negligible.

The Note contains both optional and automatic conversion features. An automatic conversion can be triggered upon a qualified financing, defined as a transaction or series of transactions in which the Company sells its equity securities for aggregate proceeds of at least $1,500,000. In such instance the notes and accrued interest thereon are convertible at the lesser of: 1) 80% (20% discount) of the price paid per share of the preferred stock in the qualified offering and 2) a price equal to the quotient of $5,000,000 plus the amount of financed in convertible notes as defined by the agreement, divided by the aggregate number of the Company’s common stock as of the conversion date on a fully diluted basis.

If upon maturity, an automatic conversion has not occurred, the holder at their option may convert the outstanding principal and interest thereon into common stock at a price equal to the quotient of $5,000,000, divided by the aggregate number of the Company’s common stock as of the maturity date on a fully diluted basis as defined by the agreement.

In 2016, the Company entered into a $35,750 convertible note payable (the “2016 Note”) for similar services as described above. The 2016 Note bore interest at 5.5% per annum and matured in April 2018. In 2019, the 2016 Note, and approximately $6,000 of accrued interest thereon was converted into 63,281 shares of common stock in accordance with the terms of the 2016 Note.

Related Party Advances

From time-to-time, since Inception, the Company’s founder has advanced funds for working capital. These advances are due on demand and non-interest bearing.

Simple Agreements for Future Equity

In 2019, the Company entered into SAFEs totaling $100,000 in SAFE agreements. The proceeds of which were used to commence the Company’s operations.

Under the SAFEs, the funds contributed by the investors will convert to shares of preferred stock in a qualified priced preferred stock financing round of over $2,000,000. Each $20,000 in SAFE will convert into a number of shares of preferred stock equal to 1% of the Company capitalization as defined by the SAFEs.

OOMI, INC.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

While the SAFEs remain outstanding, if there is a liquidity event, as defined by the agreements, before expiration or termination of the instrument, the investor will receive the greater of 1) two times the purchase price of the SAFE or 2) the amount payable on the number of shares of common stock equal to the purchase amount divided by the liquidity price.

If the Company dissolves or ceases operations, the SAFE holders, as a class, will have a preferential right to receive cash, up to the amount of their original investments, to the extent such funds are available to be paid. Cash payments to SAFE investors in this situation would hold a preferential position to payments to the holders of Common Stock.

As of December 31, 2019, there has not been any priced round of preferred stock financing that would trigger a conversion of the SAFE funds to preferred stock. The SAFEs are marked-to-market each reporting period as described in Note 2. As of December 31, 2019, management has determined that the carrying value is considered the fair value as there are no indications that the value has changed.

NOTE 5 – STOCKHOLDERS’ EQUITY

The Company is authorized to issue 10,000,000 shares of common stock, $0.00001 par value.

Restricted Shares Issued for Services

In 2019, the Company issued 185,000 shares of restricted common stock to an individual for software development related services. The restricted shares vest over 36 months, with 30,834 vesting on the six-month anniversary, and the remaining monthly over the remaining 30 months. The Company determined the compensation expense related to this issuance to be $1,850 based on a fair value of each common share of $0.01, which was determined by management based on relevant market factors. The expense attributable to 2019 was negligible and the full value of the award will be recognized between 2020 - 2022. These shares are forfeitable and accordingly, not considered outstanding until vested.

Shares Issued for Convertible Debt

See Note 4 for description of 63,281 shares issued for the conversion of convertible debt.

Stock Awards

In 2019, our Board of Directors adopted the Oomi Inc., 2019 Equity Incentive Plan (the “2019 Plan”). The 2019 Plan provides for the grant of equity awards to employees, and consultants, including stock options, stock purchase rights and restricted stock units to purchase shares of our common stock. Up to 600,000 shares of our common stock may be issued pursuant to awards granted under the 2019 Plan. The 2019 Plan is administered by our Board of Directors, and expires ten years after adoption, unless terminated earlier by the Board.

Warrants

In 2018, the Company granted the Company’s legal counsel a forward option to purchase 2.5% of the capital stock on a fully diluted basis upon a qualified financing or after 2 years. The exercise price is $100 divided by the fully diluted share count as of the date of the warrants are exercised. As the number of warrants and strike price are not known at the time of grant, such warrants are not yet considered outstanding.

COMPANY SUMMARY

Opportunity

Animated content has grown rapidly recently, with the industry expected to reach $270 billion in 2020 due to the rising popularity of streaming services and the pervasiveness of mobile devices that enable consumers to access this type of content easier than ever.^{vi} Not only are large studios developing this type of content, but tens of millions of creative individuals are developing content to be shared across major internet platforms such as

MICROVENTURES

Instagram, YouTube, and Twitch, earning these independent creators nearly $6 billion in 2016 from their work.^{vii} Unfortunately for creators, the process of creating animated content can be both costly and time-consuming. Studio Pigeon – a video production company – estimates that the average time to produce an animation of around 60-90 seconds is about six weeks,^{viii} with the average cost of these 60-second explainer videos totaling nearly $8,000.^{ix}

UNOMi is a software company that is creating products to address the most complicated aspects of the animation process. The company's patent-pending software is designed to automate many of the difficult and lengthy processes necessary to create animated content and instead provide users of all skill levels with a simple, intuitive, and efficient way of enhancing their animated content. The Los Angeles-based company has already earned the backing of institutional investors, like Backstage Capital, and has plans to create an even larger suite of products that include voiceovers, motion capture, and personal avatar building so users can have even more tools when designing and producing their animated content.

Product

UNOMi is developing a suite of software products that help content creators more seamlessly develop animated content. The company's first product, which launched in September 2019, is a lip-sync software platform.

UNOMi 2D/3D Lip-Syncing Application

The UNOMi 2D/3D Lip-Sync application enables users to automatically sync animated mouth poses to voice-over recordings. UNOMi's software allows users to simply drag-and-drop voice-over recordings, user-created animated mouth poses for each character, and a text script of what the character is saying into the platform. The software uses all three variables to create an accurate talking animated mouth. For example, if the character was saying a word that began with the letter 'L', UNOMi's software is able to sync the character's mouth movements to match what a human mouth looks like when saying the letter 'L'.

Users can preview and edit their content directly within the UNOMi platform. Once finished, users can render and download the file of their work. This file can be easily added to a composition – which encompasses all of the properties that are required to create a detailed animated object and content – so the talking mouth poses can be integrated into a larger animated video.

Intellectual Property

UNOMi has filed a non-published patent application for its technology related to the method and systems for generating mouth animations. The system identifies a set of mouth poses corresponding to an animation and synchronizes the voice-over recordings and written scripts to these animations.

Use of Proceeds

If the minimum amount is raised ($25,000), UNOMi intends to allocate 51% of the use of proceeds towards marketing, 24% towards legal fees, 20% towards product development, and 5% towards intermediary fees associated with this raise.

If the maximum amount is raised ($428,000), the company intends to allocate 24% towards marketing, about 8% towards legal fees, 63% towards product development, and the remaining 5% towards intermediary fees.

- Intermediary Fees: $1,250

- Intermediary Fees: $21,400

MICROVENTURES

- Product Development: $5,000
- Legal Fees: $6,000
- Marketing: $12,750
- Product Development: $271,352
- Legal Fees: $34,240
- Marketing: $101,008

The company anticipates allocating funds towards the following functions within each category:

- Product Development: UNOMi intends to use the proceeds of this raise for the continued development of their animation software, as well as on the expansion of new product offerings.
- Legal Fees: UNOMi plans to allocate a portion of this raise towards legal fees related to the company's plans to expand its intellectual property portfolio.
- Marketing: The company plans to use a portion of the proceeds towards marketing costs for digital advertisements on platforms like LinkedIn, Facebook, and more, in the hopes of expanding its customer base.
- Intermediary Fees: Fees associated with this raise.

Product Roadmap

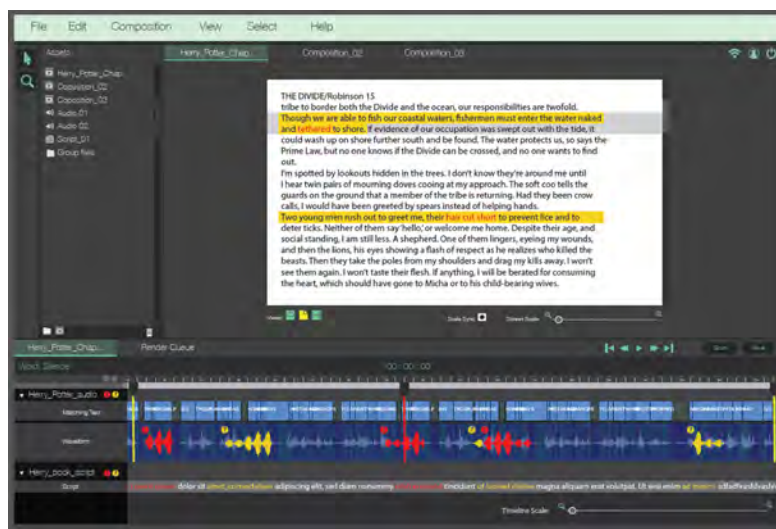

UNOMi has multiple product milestones it is aiming to achieve in the next six to nine months.

MICROVENTURES

UNOMi Voiceover Application: UNOMi Voiceover is being designed to enable audiobook editors the ability to scan over 10 hours of audio and track and document all errors. Rather than going through numerous hours of an audio clip, users can have this software automatically track all errors within an audio file and document them. This will allow studios to scan through audiobooks more quickly. The company aims to release this product in Q4 2020 and further expand its language processing capabilities to include Mandarin, Portuguese, Spanish, French, Korean, and Japanese.

UNOMi Avatar Builder: The UNOMi Avatar Builder is built to help users easily create 3D characters from scratch. Users can select body type, clothing, hair, skin color, accessories, and more. Users will then be able to use UNOMi's other product features to animate their 3D avatars. The company hopes to launch this product by Q1 2021.

UNOMi Motion Capture: UNOMi's Motion Capture application allows users to track human movement without a tracking suit or motion capture facility. This software program is being designed to have the capability to track full body movements from a prerecorded video uploaded by users. The company is targeting to launch the Motion Capture product by Q2 2021.

Business Model

UNOMi operates a software-as-a-service (SaaS) business model, where customers purchase services and are charged a monthly subscription fee based on the number of features they require. The company currently generates revenue from its 2D/3D Lip-Sync products and intends to generate revenue from its motion-capture, voiceover, and 3D avatar plugin products once they are launched. Pricing is as follows:

2D Lip-Sync	3D Lip-Sync	Motion-Capture	Voiceover	3D Avatar Plugin

A monthly subscription is $1,035 per seat (i.e. per user using the product). An annual subscription is $9,315 per seat ($776.25 per month).	Customers pay a one-time fee of $350 per seat.

USER TRACTION

UNOMi launched its product in September 2019 and has acquired enterprise customers, as well as independent content creators that use the company's service. The enterprise clients include:

Berdhouse Studios: Berdhouse Studios develops short animated content for a variety of online platforms. The Texas-based organization is currently releasing episodes for Bitcoin and Friends and has created content across a range of topics.

MICROVENTURES

Koaxia1: Koaxia1 develops 2D and 3D videos for a variety of companies and brands. The company uses UNOMi 3D Lip-Sync application for its 3D animations and has been a subscriber for five months.

Accelerators

UNOMi has also participated in two accelerator programs since inception in 2017.

- Backstage Accelerator: Venture capital firm Backstage Capital operates an accelerator program for underrepresented founders. The global program first launched in Los Angeles, CA, Detroit, MI, Philadelphia, PA, and London, England. In March 2019, the firm launched its inaugural cohort of 25 companies, which it selected from over 1,800 applicants. UNOMi was a member of this program, where they received funding, mentorship, introductions to potential future investors, as well as guidance on how to build an early-stage startup.^x
- Stubbs Alderton and Markiles, Preccecelerator Program: Preccecelerator Program is a Santa Monica-based startup accelerator that focuses on providing mentorship, sophisticated legal services, networking opportunities, and co-working space, among other benefits to its startups. UNOMi was announced as a member of the program's tenth class of companies in August 2018.^{xi}

HISTORICAL FINANCIALS

MICROVENTURES

UNOMi began rolling out its product in September 2019 and has since generated over $4,000 in revenue through September 2020. The company is implementing a SaaS business model, whereby it intends to earn consistent monthly revenue from its customers and eventually upsell existing customers into additional seats and features.

The company began incurring expenses in July 2017 and spent approximately $59,000 to hire programmers and pay for legal expenses. Spending spiked in December 2017 to over $47,000 due to the company hiring additional software programmers. Throughout 2018, the company spent $35,000 paying programmers, which was a majority of its total expenses for the year of ~$36,000. In 2019, UNOMi's total expenses were just over $120,000, which were from paying artists, programmers, and legal fees. In 2020, UNOMi has sustained about $84,000 in expenses. Compared to the first eight months of 2019, spending has picked up in 2020, as the company has focused on hiring additional programmers to deliver its first product, as well as develop additional features on products on its roadmap.

In both 2018 and 2019, a majority of spending (>90%) went into expenses related to professional fees for software development and the hiring of independent software programmers.

Expenses (July 2017 - September 2020)

Through September 2020, UNOMi has generated a net loss of $78,361. Previously, the company generated net losses of $117,853 in 2019, $36,935 in 2018, and $59,319 in 2017. As of September 2020, the company's YTD gross average monthly burn rate for 2020 was about $8,671 and had over $12,060 in cash assets. MICROVENTURES

INDUSTRY AND MARKET ANALYSIS

Research and Markets reported that the total value of the global animation industry was $264 billion in 2019. The video game market, one of the largest segments in the industry, was valued at $100 billion in 2019. Demand for animation has expanded with the growing popularity of streaming services, the availability of low-cost internet access, and the penetration of mobile devices enabling consumers to access this type of content easier than ever. In particular, streaming video is the fastest growing segment distribution channel for the animation industry.^{xii}

Studio Pigeon estimates that the average time to produce an animated video of around 60-90 seconds is approximately six weeks. However, production time can vary based on the animation style used and the amount of movement in the scene. A simple animated video – that utilizes whiteboard animations – could take less than one week to complete, while a video with more intensive scenes like fighting could take weeks or months.^{xiii}

The global 3D animation segment of the animation market was valued at $13.75 billion in 2018 by Grandview Research. The firm estimates that this market will grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11% from 2019 to 2025 due to technological advancements in 3D animation technology, implementation of this type of content across a wide variety of industries, and government incentives that encourage product development in the sector, among other factors. North America is the largest global market in this industry, with the U.S. being the largest region in North America. However, the Asia Pacific market is expected to grow with the highest CAGR from 2019 to 2025. Based on end-use cases, the media and entertainment sector is the largest market in the global 3D animation industry.^{xiv}

Another sub-market of the animation industry that UNOMi hopes to target is the video game software market. The company is developing its product such that video game developers are able to more easily develop content, characters, and other animations for their games. IBISWorld estimates that in 2020, the video game software publishing industry will generate $28 billion in revenue, across over 249,000 businesses. The firm estimates that the industry will realize a 8.6% annual growth rate since 2015, largely due to the penetration and popularity of smartphones and video games on mobile devices.^{xv}

In addition to the aforementioned industries, UNOMi is building its product to serve content creators that are looking to efficiently make animations, videos, and use other tools. The undersigned represents that it is able to bear any and all loss associated with an investment in the Securities.

iii. The undersigned confirms that it is not relying and will not rely on any communication (written or oral) of the Company, MicroVenture Marketplace Inc., or any of their respective affiliates, as investment advice or as a recommendation to purchase the Securities. It is understood that information and explanations related to the terms and conditions of the Securities provided in the Form C/A or otherwise by the Company, MicroVenture Marketplace Inc. or any of their respective affiliates shall not be considered investment advice or a recommendation to purchase the Securities, and that neither the Company, MicroVenture Marketplace Inc. nor any of their respective affiliates is acting or has acted as an advisor to the undersigned in deciding to invest in the Securities. vii. The undersigned understands that no federal or state agency has passed upon the merits or risks of an investment in the Securities or made any finding or determination concerning the fairness or advisability of this investment.

c) No Guaranty.

i. The undersigned confirms that the Company has not (A) given any guarantee or representation as to the potential success, return, effect or benefit (either legal, regulatory, tax, financial, accounting or otherwise) of an investment in the Securities or (B) made any representation to the undersigned regarding the legality of an investment in the Securities under applicable legal investment or similar laws or regulations. The undersigned has considered the suitability of the Securities as an investment in light of its own circumstances and financial condition and the undersigned is able to bear the risks associated with an investment in the Securities and its authority to invest in the Securities.

e) Restrictions on Transfer or Sale of Securities.

i. The undersigned is acquiring the Securities solely for the undersigned's own beneficial account, for investment purposes, and not with a view to, or for resale in connection with, any distribution of the Securities. The undersigned understands that the Securities have not been registered under the Securities Act or any State Securities Laws by reason of specific exemptions under the provisions thereof which depend in part upon the investment intent of the undersigned and of the other representations made by the undersigned in this Subscription Agreement. The undersigned understands that the Company is relying upon the representations and agreements contained in this Subscription Agreement (and any supplemental information) for the purpose of determining whether this transaction meets the requirements for such exemptions.

ii. The undersigned understands that the Securities are restricted from transfer for a period of time under applicable federal securities laws and that the Securities Act and the rules of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "Commission") provide in substance that the undersigned may dispose of the Securities only pursuant to an effective registration statement under the Securities Act, an exemption therefrom or as further described in Rule 501 of Regulation CF, after which certain state restrictions may apply. The undersigned understands that the Company has no obligation or intention to register any of the Securities, or to take action so as to permit sales pursuant to the Securities Act. Even when the Securities become freely transferrable, a secondary market in the Securities may not develop. Consequently, the undersigned understands that the undersigned must bear the economic risks of the investment in the Securities for an indefinite period of time.

iii. The undersigned agrees: (A) that the undersigned will not sell, assign, pledge, give, transfer or otherwise dispose of the Securities or any interest therein, or make any offer or attempt to do any of the foregoing, except pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF.

The obligations of the undersigned to purchase and pay for the Securities specified on the signature page hereto and of the Company to sell the Securities are subject to the satisfaction at or prior to the Closing of the following conditions precedent: the representations and warranties of the Company contained in Section 5 hereof and of the undersigned contained in Section 6 hereof shall be true and correct as of the Closing in all respects with the same effect as though such representations and warranties had been made as of the Closing.

8. Obligations Irrevocable. Following the Closing, the obligations of the undersigned shall be irrevocable.

9. Legend. The certificates, book entry or other form of notation representing the Securities sold pursuant to this Subscription Agreement will be notated with a legend or designation, which communicates in some manner that the Securities were issued pursuant to Section 4(a)(6) of the Securities Act and may only be resold pursuant to Rule 501 of Regulation CF.

10. Waiver, Amendment. Neither this Subscription Agreement nor any provisions hereof shall be modified, changed, discharged or terminated except by an instrument in writing, signed by the party against whom any waiver, change, discharge or termination is sought.

11. Assignability. Neither this Subscription Agreement nor any right, remedy, obligation or liability arising hereunder or by reason hereof shall be assignable by either the Company or the undersigned without the prior written consent of the other party.

12. Waiver of Jury Trial. THE UNDERSIGNED IRREVOCABLY WAIVES ANY AND ALL RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY WITH RESPECT TO ANY LEGAL PROCEEDING ARISING OUT OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT.

13. Dispute Resolution.

a) General Rule.

Any dispute under this Subscription Agreement will be resolved through arbitration, not through the court system. All arbitration will be conducted in the State where the executive office of the Company is located at such time, unless both parties agree otherwise in writing in a specific case. All arbitration will be conducted before a single arbitrator in following the rules of the American Arbitration Association. Except as required by law, neither a party nor the arbitrator may disclose the existence, content or results of any arbitration without the prior written consent of the other parties.

b) Appeal of Award.

Within thirty days of a final award by the single arbitrator, either party may appeal the award for reconsideration by a three-arbitrator panel. If there is an appeal, the other party may cross-appeal within thirty days after notice of the appeal. The panel will reconsider all aspects of the initial award that are appealed, including related findings of fact.

c) Effect of Award.

Any award by the individual arbitrator that is not subject to appeal, and any panel award on appeal, shall be final and binding, except for any appeal right under the Federal Arbitration Act, and may be entered as a judgment in any court of competent jurisdiction.

d) No Class Action Claims.

NO ARBITRATION SHALL PROCEED ON A CLASS, REPRESENTATIVE, OR COLLECTIVE BASIS. No party may join, consolidate, or otherwise bring claims for or on behalf of two or more individuals or unrelated corporate entities in the same arbitration unless those persons are parties to a single transaction. An award in arbitration shall determine the rights and obligations of the named parties only, and only with respect to the claims in arbitration, and shall not (i) determine the rights, obligations, or interests of anyone other than a named party, or resolve any claim of anyone other than a named party, or (ii) make an award for the benefit of, or against, anyone other than a named party. No administrator or arbitrator shall have the power or authority to waive, modify, or fail to enforce this paragraph, and any attempt to do so, whether by rule, policy, and arbitration decision or otherwise, shall be invalid and unenforceable. Any challenge to the validity of this paragraph shall be determined exclusively by a court and not by the administrator or any arbitrator. If this paragraph shall be deemed unenforceable, then any proceeding in the nature of a class action shall be handled in court, not in arbitration.

"Um, ok. Ya'know. You're going to have to find yourself another charity besides me and Christine."

"Hi. My name is Obi Onyejekwe and I am the CEO and Founder of UNOMi.

UNOMi is a software-as-a-service for animators and video game developers. Our top mission is to automate the most complex tasks in the animation and video game development process. We're doing this with our 2D and 3D lip-syncing tool that automates human speech for 2D and 3D characters for animated movies and shows.

We also have a motion capture software that tracks human movement without special cameras or a tracking suit.

So UNOMi has multiple clients, one of them being Berdhouse Studios, which is currently using UNOMI for their hit YouTube show, called Bitcoin And Friends.

'Why are they running in different directions? There's more miners. Now rewards being distributed over thousands of them.'

Now is an exciting time to join our team. We're currently raising funds through our equity crowdfunding campaign on MicroVentures. This will allow us to build out the full features of all our software packets.

So, proceeds will go to the build out of the front-end technology of our motion tracking technology. The back-end is already done, but with your proceeds, we'll be able to roll out a fully developed product and go to market. Proceeds will also go to our avatar builder. This is a 3D platform that will allow users to easily build 3D animated characters similar to what you see in video game consoles. From there they will be able to build their characters, use our motion capture software to make them move and then they'll be able to use our lip-syncing software to make them talk and expand their speech.

With our suite of software combined, this will allow university students, professional studios and independent artists an opportunity to create animated content and games easier and faster. So, a huge opportunity for them not to only to learn and improve the skills within their field but as well as generate additional revenue.

So, of course my team comprises of myself and my team of engineers. I come from the advertising and entertainment background. UNOMi is my second startup. My first startup was Nito, which was acquired by AOL. My team is a phenomenal group of engineers here in Los Angeles. And I also have a team of engineers in Spain that have an extensive background in machine-learning as well as computer vision.

We hope you will join our team by backing us on our equity crowdfunding campaign on MicroVentures."

Webinar Transcript

Brett Andrews: Hey everybody. This is Brett Andrews with MicroVentures. Thank you all for joining us for the webinar today. Today, we're going to be hearing from UNOMi a software company that aims to provide creators with an easier and more efficient way to create animated content. We are joined today by their founder and CEO, Obi Onyejekwe. In addition to his responsibilities at UNOMi, Obi is the COO and co-founder of Pixel Pirate Studio, a production company that develops animated content and mobile games for brands. Before that, he was the founder and CEO at Neato, a content branding startup where he led all strategic efforts of the company. In June 2016, he sold Neato to AOL. He has worked on multimedia campaigns for large companies and major entertainment entities like Spike TV, Nickelodeon, BET, and others. Obi graduated Cum Laude with a degree in graphic design from Georgia State University. How are you doing today Obi?

Obi Onyejekwe: Doing pretty good.

Brett Andrews: Great. Yeah. Thanks for joining us. I'm excited about this one. For folks who may or may not know, this is actually the second time MicroVentures has worked with UNOMi on a race, so we're really excited to be working with him again and to do this webinar.

For those of you who may be new to these or have not tuned in to a webinar of ours in the past, I'll real quick run you through the format. So Obi is going to spend about 10 or 15 minutes going through his presentation on UNOMi. Hopefully you can see the first page of his slide deck on your screen.

So he's going to go through that presentation, and during that presentation, if you have questions, you can feel free to submit those. If you go over to your go to webinar control panel, you'll see a tab titled Questions. You can feel free to submit those during the presentation or after. Once he gets done with the presentation, we'll go into Q&A. And by the way, those questions will just come in on my end, and I will do the moderation of the Q&A portion of this. So with that, Obi, I'll let you take it away and introduce everyone to UNOMi.

Obi Onyejekwe: Okay, perfect. Hey guys. So as you know, my name is Obi Onyejekwe, I'm the CEO and founder of UNOMi. So UNOMi is a software, it is a service for animators and video game developers. So our top mission is to automate the most complex task in animation and video game development process and make it easier to develop content for all content creators in the industry.

So in general, animation and video game development is extremely time consuming and expensive. So animated movies cost well up to hundreds of thousands of dollars, animated shows starting as low as what, $3,000, I mean $3 million, well up to $6 million per season's worth of animated content.¹ So UNOMi is solving this by creating an automated tool, automated technology, that will revolutionize the industry by automating the most complex task and reducing time and budget for production.

So we started this by launching our 2D and 3D lip-synching tool, which is on the market now, and you can see examples of this on our website. So UNOMi does 2D and 3D lip-synching, automated lip-synching for 2D and 3D animated characters. So instead of animators having to do this by hand, UNOMi automates the whole process. So just to put it in perspective, about 30 seconds of animation by hand would take probably your top level animator about two days, two or three days to do.ⁱⁱ And if that's 3D animation, it takes them about two to three weeks, where UNOMi does it in seconds. So of course, once UNOMi pumps out the actual final files, they're able to take it to any perspective program that they're currently using and implement it into their software. So users don't have to stop using what they're currently using, so they could keep using Adobe Animate, Toon Boom, or any other 3D program or 2D program and go from there. And then with 3D easily works with Maya, Cinema 4D and 3D Studio Max.

Our other application that we're currently working on is our Markerless Motion tracking technology. So this will be ready in 2021. We're developing currently right now, it's close to completion. So instead of users having to go to a green screen stage with a tracking suit, you simply record each other sword fighting or doing a back flip in your living room or your backyard. And then from there, you can load the footage into UNOMi and automatically track the human movement.

What differentiates us from the market in this space is we're going to have the ability to have people track multiple people versus just one. And so, like I said, this will be ready. And then you can also see examples of this on the MicroVentures website for UNOMi or the getunomi.com website.

Then we also have our avatar builder. So this is a software similar to creating an avatar in Fortnite or any other video game. You could select their body type, skin tone, hair, clothes, everything, and create your own individual avatar. This will be featured as a plugin in Adobe's After Effects and Premiere, as well as Apple's Final Cut.

And so, yeah, users will easily be able to create their 3D character, similar to, like I said, in any other video game. And then the beauty is here is they'll be able to use the motion capture software to make them move, and then our lip-synching software to easily make them talk. So all these tools combined will allow you to make a 3D animated character or show in minutes, if not seconds, that could be premiered on a professional show or a YouTube channel where they create original content.

So the last part we're developing that's about to be done in the next two weeks is our voiceover application. So UNOMi voiceover automates the QA, or quality assurance, in developing or producing audio books. So what many don't know is the pain point with audio books is once the recording is done, they have to hire somebody to go through over 10 hours of audio book recording and make sure that the voiceover artist's audio matches up with the script.

Now, believe it or not, there's actually a lot of errors that you get, especially reading over 10 hours of audio book. And so they have to hire people, multiple days to track this. And they literally have to just listen to it every single minute or hour of the audio book and flag all those errors. And then from there, those errors are sent back to the editor and the soundstage where they'll re-record those errors, where UNOMi will actually automate this whole process. So that tool is done just about now. We're just making a final couple tweaks and then we'll be launching in the next couple of weeks from there. But yeah, this tool saves quite a bit of time and money for the industry and will allow audio book production companies to scale up and produce content a lot cheaper and faster.

So our market size, it's about a $37 billion market overall for software dedicated to creating animation and video games.ⁱⁱⁱ So we're going after our first group, which would be the animation studios. And then from there they would, each studio of course be ordering multiple seats of the software. So instead of just ordering one seat, they'd actually order a while up to 20, 35 seats, depending on the size of the studio.

Then our next group are independent animators. So we'll be going after that demographic as well. And then we'll also have the universities that teach animation and video game development. and we'd be reaching out to them as well to implement UNOMi into their system for education. So you're probably looking at 2,000 seats for 3D department, motion design, 2D animation, and probably special effects as well.

And then our go-to market strategy. So right now we've been using lead gen to get a lot of our customers. And on top of that, I have a lot of connections to animation and video game development industry. So reaching out to a lot of people who I already know and locking in those deals. And once we raise our next round, we'll also move on to a ClickFunnel to reach out to multiple industries online. We're also going to be locking a deal with FX Factory with our avatar creator, which will allow them to handle enterprise sales for us. So we've used them before on smaller projects or smaller plugins. And so by using them, we'll be able to scale rapidly. They have outreach of well over a million users on their platform.

So, and then from there, once we've gained that scale, then we'll move on to a digital ad campaign, which will target animators and 3D content creators in the industry. And of course those ads would be featured on LinkedIn, Facebook, Instagram, and the general ad market.

So our target customers, as I said before, of course the television animation studios. We're currently reaching out to them now, and some of them are demoing the software. And then of course, independent content creators. We're currently talking to a lead YouTube channel right now. I literally have a meeting with them today on featuring UNOMi as a tool for their users on their platform. So, they're similar to maker-studios, but the animation version. So they have over 700,000 plus content creators on their platform. So if we're featured, we'll be presented to all of them. And of course it would be as part of the deals we're going to give them discounts for everybody on their platform.

And like I said, the students, universities are our top goals as well. Benefit there is the massive number of seats that the universities would order as well. And of course, we'd have a next generation of content creators that'd be accustomed to our products and would ultimately be our champions in the growing content creation world as they graduate.

So our revenue models, how we make money. So of course we'll have free trials for all our software. And then from there, we'll have a monthly license and an annual license. And with the annual license, it gives them on average about a 25% discount if they go that route. And then of course they have the option to go monthly if they choose to. And so of course, with the 3D lip-synching monthly, 2D's about $34.98. And of course, the 3D is $365, just because it saves, it's a bigger pain point on the 3D side. Voiceover will start around about $1,000 a month. And then of course, annual is close to about $9,000. And then motion capture will be around a $1,000 as well, and then annual around $10,000. And then of course, avatar creator plugin will be a flat fee of $350, but the beauty here is as we scale and as we grow avatar creator, we'll have other versions of it. So we'll probably eventually roll out a monster pack or animal pack where users could mix and match fairs to be characters that they want to build. And so we'll just scale the company up on that end.

So our roadmap. Like I said, we've already launched our 2D, 3D lip-synching software, which is already on the market. We're about to launch our voiceover application in the next two weeks. And then motion capture will be ready beginning of 2021. And then we'll also have our avatar creator developed in 2021 as well. And then from there, towards the end of 2021, we'll be rolling out multiple languages for our 2D and 3D lip-synching. So that way people will be able to handle lip-synching for Spanish, Portuguese, and quite a few other languages as well.

Our founders. So of course, myself as CEO. I come from the animation and entertainment background. Like I said before, have a previous exit with a startup called Neato, which is acquired by AOL. And now of course focusing on UNOMi. And then Arama Brown is our lead software engineer. She has extensive background for developing machine learning and AI. And then Llama, our full-stack developer, who's our lead engineer for all our 3D products. And he has extensive background on developing 3D tools in the industry as well.

So our top focus and proceeds will definitely go to development, rolling out all the features that are currently being requested by our current users. And then of course the next being marketing, so scale up the company. And then legal to handle all other deals that we are working on currently. And then just internal fees to kind of keep the company running as well. Thank you so much. And let me know if you have any more questions

Brett Andrews: Appreciate it Obi. We did have a few people join late. So if you do have any questions, we've got a few here already, but if you have any questions for Obi, please submit them in the Questions tab on the GoToWebinar control panel, and we'll get those answered. So I wanted to just start off first and just learn a little bit, or hopefully you could share a little bit, about how you got involved in this. You mentioned, and I went through the bio and then you mentioned again on the team side that you had a successful exit already to AOL with your past startup. And then touched on your involvement currently with, I believe it's pixel pirate studio. So was this a problem that you were running into with your respective businesses. And so then you felt like you just needed to get out there and solve it? Or can you just share a little bit about the origin story?

Obi Onyejekwe: Exactly. Yeah. I mean, we were literally working on a music video and I think the client wanted the characters to be rapping. And we looked into it and we were like, wow, if we do it by hand it would be way too expensive. I think at the time it would have been an additional $15,000 just to have that lip-synching done.

And so we were looking for automated tools and none of them worked properly and the team didn't like any of them. So I was like, okay, this is definitely something we need to tackle. And of course with motion capture, same thing. It just got to the point that with motion capture we needed to get it done quickly and efficiently, where the mo-cap stages were just a bit too expensive for a lot of our clients. So yeah, a lot of this was just solving our own pain points.

Brett Andrews: That's interesting. I think that's how a lot of great businesses are started. And one of the things that I think is interesting here, and this will lead into a question that we had submitted, I don't know if you guys would put yourself in this category, but there's been sort of this explosion recently of what people would refer to as low-code or no-code type businesses where you're allowing people who maybe don't have technical engineering expertise to do things like build websites or program software fairly easily. It seems to me that this is actually doing that in a different market, but is very similar in that sort of plug and play. And you're not only lowering the cost, but you're providing a skillset to suit people who may not have otherwise had it, which leads me to believe that your addressable market could end up expanding if there's people who would have never even attempted to do any sort of animation.

Obviously you've got the people who are currently in the business where this solves a pain point and limits costs, but others who might not have even thought about doing something on an animator side and now have access to. So kind of porting into the question here that we had is, do you see the product could be available to the general consumers in the market? For example, if in the future someone has a Disney plus subscription, could this be incorporated and allow consumers to create their own short videos?

Obi Onyejekwe: Yeah, absolutely. So basically it's already kind of starting. So once we launch, editors who aren't accustomed to animation art will have this ability in Final Cut.

So that's the first stage of where it's going to start. Of course, down the line, when we go a bit more mobile, we'll have that ability for users further down the line.

Brett Andrews: Great. Yeah. And then that leads us to another question we had about sales process. So you went through, you had a slide where you talked about the different customer cohorts, so there's the animated studios, independent animators, and the universities. I would imagine because each one of those types of customers has sort of different needs, or maybe they viewed the product as sort of a different selling point or different value prop, can you kind of break down the difference from a sales process on how you guys handle each one of those cohorts? And if there's any sort of sales cycle that you're starting to see from the time, let's say if it's a university, from the time you kind of make an initial connection or get a foot in the door to when it really gets serious for them wanting to order a seat or a number of seats.

Obi Onyejekwe: Exactly. So with universities and studios, it's definitely an enterprise sales process. So it's definitely basic outreach, multiple meetings, them trying it out, testing it out. And then from there, the cycle for universities is definitely a lot quicker than, I mean, the cycle for studios is definitely a lot quicker than universities. Universities, you're probably talking, it's probably more of a six months to a year process just because you have to get it in Q1 or end of Q4, approved Q1, implemented. Where a studio could say yes at any point.

And then the beauty of both universities and studios is they do annual only. They don't do monthly. They generally want to lock it in and work with their fiscal budget overall. So that's generally the process for those guys.

Individuals, generally basic marketing and word of mouth are kind of work with them. So once they see it and they see video and they understand it, they're pretty much locked in and all groups can easily just go to the website, create an account and download the software and go from there.

Brett Andrews: Great. Yeah, and I think that those annual subscriptions that you touched on, I think, are obviously very, very helpful for a startup from a cashflow perspective. So that helps a lot, I imagine. And then on that sales process, just with regards to your team, so you touched on, you had the team slide there, are you the one that's mostly managing, at least on the enterprise side, the relationships between the end consumer or the end users or your customers essentially in terms of getting them onboarded and actually closing the sale?

Obi Onyejekwe: Absolutely. Yeah. I pretty much start off with the sales process, and then our engineering team will kind of work with them on any troubleshooting or issues that they may run into.

Brett Andrews: Got it. And then we had a question about competition. So the question specifically is, is there any competitor that offers similar products? So maybe you can just talk about the competitive landscape as you see it on the whole.

Obi Onyejekwe: Yeah. So we have, it's weird. Our competitors are kind of all over the price place. And this is part of the reason that sets us apart. So yeah, we have Adobe and a couple of, like Toon Boom when it comes to the lip-synching for 2D. But our lip-synching tool is getting more advanced the more and more we develop.

And then for Mo-Cap, we definitely have other competitors in the realm, but we start to separate from them pretty drastically once you start looking at the front end and who our target market is. So we're definitely going for more of individuals, emotion designers, animators, and content creators that are in the field now. So we're pretty much geared for actual studios that are going to be making some of the Disney content or the Nickelodeon content that you see, and a lot of work is actually outsourced to these studios overseas and in the U.S. So we're kind of going after that market first. So our front end starts to look a lot different from our competitors, and the accuracy so far that with what we've seen is far more advanced than our competitors as well.

Brett Andrews: I would imagine accuracy is a big component to this, right? Because, I mean, like all artists, I'm sure animators are the same way where you want to make sure that you're not losing the integrity or quality of the product. And when they're calculating that ROI of, should I spend the money on doing this by hand or paying somebody to do this by hand, or should we automate it or get a tool like this to help, to help automate it, we don't want to lose out on the quality. So I think that's a good point there, Obi Onyejekwe: Exactly. That's their top thing, is if you want to go after that market, it has to be of quality or else they won't use it.

Brett Andrews: I can imagine that. And then we had a question about the current environment. So just addressing COVID-19, we've had this question on many of the webinars that we've been doing over the last year, which is not a surprise at all. So has there been an impact on your business due to COVID-19? And if so, to what extent?

Obi Onyejekwe: If anything, it's made things better. I mean, COVID is definitely a huge tragedy for all of us, but it has helped UNOMi a bit. It's definitely created a huge demand in animation and animation development, just because now that things are shut down, animation's pretty much the only real content that you can produce on a consistent basis. And our team has always been remote. So we didn't have to worry about shutting anything down or losing money from office space. So, yeah, we've been pretty solid there. And by everything being shut down, honestly, it's allowed us to be laser focused on getting a lot of stuff done and done quickly.

Brett Andrews: Right, yeah. I mean, I talk to companies every day for a living, and I think the ones that had been working remotely previously, and certainly those that are in the software space have been in a much better positions than some of those that weren't as fortunate. So no, that's good to hear.

Okay. Last couple of questions here. I'll sort of make this the last call for anybody who wants to ask another question to Obi before we sign off here. But this was on the use of funds. So I know the way that we set up these raises, if people aren't aware, is we've got a minimum threshold, and then a maximum in both of those. We set up a use of funds. And I'll also just remind people that I will point you guys to the campaign page, where you can find out more information on the business.

And actually, while I'm addressing that, if you go into the chat, if you're listening to this live, there's a link there that you should see, and you can click on that, and I'll actually take you straight to the campaign page. But I'll give you the direct URL before we sign off here.

But going back to the question about the use of funds, I think you for the maximum, which is what you have in the slide deck, a good bit of that is development. And the question, I think what it's asking is with regards to that development, is this just doubling down on the current roadmap that you guys have laid out, or is it new products that you see on the horizon?

Obi Onyejekwe: Yeah, so the only new product would be the Avatar Creator. Everything else would be updated features on a 2D Lip-Synching and 3D Lip-Synching. So adding additional features that have been requested from users, as well as Mo-Cap, just adding additional features there. So, yeah, it's almost split 50-50 where some of it's going to go to definitely new product, and then the rest will be updated features based on user feedback.

Brett Andrews: Got it. I'm sorry, though. There was a last piece of that question too, and it was about whether or not you plan on bringing on new hires. So if maybe you can just answer that question yes or no. And if the answer is yes, what are you looking at as the next few roles that you would bring on when you have the proper funding?

Obi Onyejekwe: Yeah. Once we have the proper funding, we definitely expect to bring on at least three more engineers, and then down the line about probably two enterprise sales reps starting. And then hopefully things go well and we keep ramping up from there.

Brett Andrews: Got it. Sounds good. And then this is the last one. I'll address it. So the question is what's the three-to-five year outlook? And is there plans to sell or merge? Before I let you address the question Obi, I do want to say that due to Reg CF regulations, we got to avoid any sort of forward looking statements. And so just with that out of the way though, Obi, maybe if you want to just talk about what you see as the larger landscape and potential sort of exit strategy for the business as you guys continue to grow and execute.

Obi Onyejekwe: Yeah. I mean, our top mission is definitely be a ubiquitous tool for content creators in the animation and video game development space. And we definitely want scale to the point that we're in the top studios globally and being used for a lot of the top animated shows and video games. And then from there is the exit potential or possible? It definitely is. So yeah, we're pretty much scaling this company for that level of success.

Brett Andrews:

Got it. I think that's super helpful. And with the way that your business model is set up, you have enough people that are paying you recurring revenue, and that's always going to be attractive to companies who are looking for an accretive acquisition.

So that's going to do it for the questions here. So real quick, before I give you the final thoughts, Obi, I just want to first thank everybody for joining us today and listening in. And even if you're listening to this recording, which will be going up on the campaign page, we really appreciate that. If you're looking for more information or you have questions that come up, or if you are listening to the recording and a question pops up that you weren't able to ask Obi, then I'd encourage you to do a couple things. I guess first, just go and check out the campaign page that we do have on the MicroVentures website. So the direct URL is invest.microventures.com/offerings/UNOMi-II. Because this is the second time we've been working on this. So that's Roman numeral two. You can also go to microventures.com homepage and you can click on the Invest tab up at the top right, scroll down until you see the tombstone for UNOMi and you can click on that and it'll take you to the same place.

And for those of you that are live, like I said, there's a link in the chat as well. And when you get to that page, there's a whole host of information that our team and in cooperation with Obi put together to outline the opportunity. You've got the terms listed there of the investments. You've got the executive snapshot. There's a video that the team put together, the slide deck that Obi went through today is also listed there. I believe there's some perks as well that you can also check out. And then there's a discussion forum down at the bottom. So if you do have more questions after we get out of here today, then I'd encourage you to feel free to ask the questions there. Obi has been doing a good job of responding to those. And so if you do have anything that pops into your head after we sign off, then that's probably the best place to go.

And then of course, lastly, if you'd like to participate on this as an investor, that is the point of the webinar and this campaign altogether. So on that same campaign page, there is an orange Invest button up in the top right. You can click there. If you already have an account with us, you probably know how the process works. If not, you will need to sign up and create one. And we'll just walk you through the process of joining what these guys are building. So that's going to pretty much do it on my end. So Obi, is there any kind of final thoughts you want to share or any place you want to point them for more information?

Obi Onyejekwe:

Yeah. I mean, I think thanks for attending, and yeah, feel free to go to the website where you can see all our latest developments, especially our blog. You'll be able to see the latest video of our motion capture software in action. So yeah, that's about it.

Brett Andrews: Great. Well, I really appreciate your time today, Obi. I know you've got a lot of executing to do, so it means a lot that you took some time out to share more about this. And thanks to everyone who did log in. I know we're kind of in the busy holiday season, and not to mention the year that we found ourselves in. So it definitely means a lot that you guys took some time out of your day join us and learn more about the company. So with that, thanks again for joining us, and I hope everybody has a great day and great rest of the week. Thanks, Obi.

Obi Onyejekwe: Thank you.

Brett Andrews: All right. Talk soon.
